

THE PHOTOVOICE PROCESS

The Project Team

The project was led by the Ontario Network of People Who Use Drugs (ONPUD). The Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC) funded the project. Public Health Ontario (PHO) provided scientific and technical support and Healthcare Human Factors (HHF) contributed design and facilitation activities.

The Steering Committee

The project's findings were informed by a Steering Committee consisting of 10 - 13 people who use drugs.

Key Takeaways

Identifying Skills, Talents & Resources

- Empowerment of Local Talent
- Community-Centred Photography
- Resource Sharing and Collaboration
- Respect for Control and Consent

Difficult Conversations

The group discussed images that evoked joy and sadness, leading to productive conversations. They developed recommendations to amplify the voices of people who use drugs for community benefit.

Note: the visual summary aims to include people from diverse range of experiences. It does not necessarily represent the individuals involved in our project.